

Andreas Gerward

MSc – CEO Stayble Therapeutics AB

Andreas Gerward has during the last five years worked actively within early pharma development, previously within infection and since 2014 as the CEO of Stayble. Since joining Stayble Mr Gerward has developed the company from an initial idea through pre-clinical development to clinical trials in early 2017. Mr. Gerward has an engineering background within economics and entrepreneurship from Chalmers University of Technology and a master degree in Business design and venture creation within life science companies.