

Enrico Tessitore

Enrico Tessitore, PD MD completed his neurosurgical residency in 2001 at the Second University of Naples (Italy). He has been working in Geneva since October 2001, first as chief resident and then as a Staff Member. Now he serves as Deputy Chairman and he is the opinion leader for spine surgery in the same Unit.

He focused his clinical and scientific interest on spine surgery. He has published more than 50 papers on peer-reviewed journals, especially on spinal topics. He has been invited as speaker and chairman at National and International Congresses.

He has obtained the academic title of Privat Docent (PD) of the University of Geneva in July 2012, and he has become Chargé de Cours (CC) on 2014. He's involved in pre and post-graduate teaching at the Faculty of Medicine of Geneva. He is also involved in post-graduate teaching at European level (EANS, Eurospine), often leading cadaver labs for teaching spinal technologies.

He has operated on more than 3000 patients, of which 80% of spinal pathologies (traumatic, tumoral and degenerative). His favourite topic is the cranio-vertebral junction.
