

Ciaran Bolger

Professor Ciaran Bolger is currently the Head of the Department of Clinical Neuroscience RCSI, Director Research and Development at the National Neurosurgery Unit, Beaumont Hospital Dublin and a Consultant Neurosurgeon at Beaumont Hospital.

Previous positions include consultant appointments at the Frenchay Hospital Bristol UK and the Royal Adelaide Hospital South Australia

He trained in spinal neurosurgery at the Walton Centre for Neurology and Neurosurgery Liverpool and the Primary Children's Medical Centre, Salt Lake City Utah USA and in Orthopaedic spinal surgery at the Royal Adelaide Hospital Australia.

He is the immediate Past President of EuroSpine (the Spine Society of Europe).

He is a recipient of several international awards including from the International Society for the Study of the Lumbar Spine, the Presidents Design Award from the President of Singapore Awards from the Association for the Study of Medical Education, the Biomedical Synergistics Institute, Wichita, Kansas, The Biological Society, Dublin, the Intensive Care Society, UK and the Society of British Neurosurgeons, UK.

He is on the Editorial Board of the European Spine Journal and on the Review Panel or Advisory board of several other Neurosurgery or Spine Journals.

He currently serves on the council of the Society of British Neurosurgeons and the European Spine Foundation and previously served on the Executive of the British Cervical Spine Society.

He is the Author of numerous book chapters and papers on spinal surgery and has several published patents in the same area.