

David Harding

PhD

Dr. Harding is a Materials Scientist and Biomedical Engineer with over 10 years of experience in the field of arthroplasty. He is the Principal Engineer at Dymicron, Inc, which develops orthopedic implants using polycrystalline diamond wear surfaces. Dr. Harding has helped develop devices along with the surgical systems used to implant them. He has also studied the natural kinematics of the cervical spine and ways to meaningfully to characterize the motion.