

Rishi Kanna

Dr Rishi Kanna is currently working as a consultant spine surgeon at Ganga Hospital, Coimbatore, India, one of the renowned centers for Spine Surgery. After basic orthopaedic training, he had fellowship training in basic and advanced spine surgery in India and Nottingham. His surgical areas of interest include degenerative spinal disorders, spinal trauma, infections and spinal deformities. He has basic science research interests in low back pain, disc degeneration, genetic basis of disc diseases and diffusion tensor imaging. He has contributed more than 50 international peer reviewed publications and textbook chapters in spinal disorders.